

Have got

Complete the sentences, using have(n't) got or has(n't) got.

Example:

He hasn't got any butter, but he has got some margarine.

Have you got a CD player? No, but I have got a cassette player.

1. He can't open the door. He ..... the key.
2. I can't take photographs. I ..... a camera.
3. They can't play tennis tomorrow. They ..... an English test.
4. .... blue eyes? No, she ..... brown eyes.
5. .... any brothers? No, but I ..... a sister.
6. .... a stereo? Yes, but he ..... a video camera.
7. .... the time? Yes, it's about seven o'clock.
8. Joe is poor. He ..... any money.
9. What ..... in your bag? I ..... some eggs.
10. Jane is not well. She ..... a headache.
11. They're very rich. They ..... a lot of money.
12. John ..... a house and a good job, but he isn't happy, because he
 ..... a girlfriend.
13. Hurry up! We ..... much time.
14. They usually go to the Algarve in the summer. They ..... a house there.
15. My flat is small. It ..... a bedroom, a kitchen, a bathroom and a small living room.

Have got

---

Complete the sentences, using have(n't) got or has(n't) got.

Example:

He hasn't got any butter, but he has got some margarine.
Have you got a CD player? No, but I have got a cassette player.

1. He can't open the door. He hasn't got the key.
2. I can't take photographs. I haven't got a camera.
3. They can't play tennis tomorrow. They have got an English test.
4. Has she got blue eyes? No, she has got brown eyes.
5. Have you got any brothers? No, but I have got a sister.
6. Has he got a stereo? Yes, but he hasn't got a video camera.
7. Have you got the time? Yes, it's about seven o'clock.
8. Joe is poor. He hasn't got any money.
9. What have you got in your bag? I have got some eggs.
10. Jane is not well. She has got a headache.
11. They're very rich. They have got a lot of money.
12. John has got a house and a good job, but he isn't happy, because he hasn't got a girlfriend.
13. Hurry up! We haven't got much time.
14. They usually go to the Algarve in the summer. They have got a house there.
15. My flat is small. It has got a bedroom, a kitchen, a bathroom and a small living room.