

Active to Passive

Change the sentences from active to passive.

Example:

She has made some progress.

Some progress has been made (by her).

1. They have carried out the order.

.....

2. Someone has made a statement.

.....

3. They have turned down the offer.

.....

4. He has made all the arrangements.

.....

5. They haven't done anything.

.....

6. She has written the report.

.....

7. Have they carried out the plan?

.....

8. Has he made a statement yet?

.....

9. What have they turned down?

.....

10. Has he made all the arrangements?

.....

11. How much has he done?

.....

12. What has he written?

.....

Active to Passive

Change the sentences from active to passive.

Example:

She has made some progress.

Some progress has been made (by her).

1. They have carried out the order.

The order has been carried out. .....

2. Someone has made a statement.

A statement has been made. .....

3. They have turned down the offer.

The offer has been turned down. .....

4. He has made all the arrangements.

All the arrangements have been made. .....

5. They haven't done anything.

Nothing has been done. .....

6. She has written the report.

The report has been written. .....

7. Have they carried out the plan?

Has the plan been carried out? .....

8. Has he made a statement yet?

Has a statement been made yet? .....

9. What have they turned down?

What has been turned down? .....

10. Has he made all the arrangements?

Have all the arrangements been made? .....

11. How much has he done?

How much has been done? .....

12. What has he written?

What has been written? .....