

As v. Like

Complete the sentences using as or like as appropriate.

Examples:

We used a large wooden board as a table.

The house looks like a castle.

1. Tom is very lazy, just his father.
2. It looks rain.
3. John landed a job a trainee solicitor with a law firm.
4. It is not Andrew to be so forgetful.
5. Julia works for the finance department a tax inspector.
6. In business Jane is shrewd her mother.
7. far I am concerned, you can go.
8. When Paula came to Faro, she stayed in the same university I did.
9. Luís Vaz de Camões is regarded Portugal's greatest poet.
10. Study much you can, John.
11. He's very nice, but he is thick two short planks.
12. What is your boss?
13. The computer will cost you something €500.
14. a young boy, he had studied music in Vienna.
15. The news of his death came a shock to all of us.

As v. Like

Complete the sentences using as or like as appropriate.

Examples:

We used a large wooden board as a table.

The house looks like a castle.

1. Tom is very lazy, just like his father.
2. It looks like rain.
3. John landed a job as a trainee solicitor with a law firm.
4. It is not like Andrew to be so forgetful.
5. Julia works for the finance department as a tax inspector.
6. In business Jane is as shrewd as her mother.
7. As far as I am concerned, you can go.
8. When Paula came to Faro, she stayed in the same university as I did.
9. Luís Vaz de Camões is regarded as Portugal's greatest poet.
10. Study as much as you can, like John.
11. He's very nice, but he is as thick as two short planks.
12. What is your boss like?
13. The computer will cost you something like €500.
14. As a young boy, he had studied music in Vienna.
15. The news of his death came as a shock to all of us.